Fast Facts – Wandoo Reintegration Facility

Background
- Wandoo is a minimum security prison for young men aged 18 – 28.
- It is located at the previous Rangeview Remand Centre site in Murdoch, WA.
- Wandoo is operated by Serco Australia.

Philosophy
- Wandoo aims to reduce re-offending by assisting young offenders in the critical period of transition from custody to the community.
- The Wandoo priority for offenders is their successful reintegration into the community. Offenders benefit from an intensive focus on care and wellbeing. This includes:
  - intensive individual case management
  - one on one support to build life and employment skills
  - the provision of pathways to employment
  - the opportunity to develop work skills and experience within, and outside of, the facility
  - personal support 3 months post-release provided by a partnership with Mission Australia.

Community Safety
- Community safety is the number one priority for the Department of Corrective Services.
- Serco Australia addresses 19 key performance indicators governing safety and performance which are monitored by the Department of Corrective Services.
- Serco Australia is bound by the same rules, legislation and inspections that apply to Government correctional facilities.

Innovation
- Wandoo is the first facility in Western Australia dedicated to addressing the specific needs of this group of young male offenders, offering intensive case management with a strong reintegration focus.
- Reintegration services are delivered through a partnership with the not-for-profit sector.
