

Hierarchy of Management Regimes – Appendix 1

Standard of behaviour expected of prisoners

These standards are designed to encourage prisoners to achieve a high level of personal responsibility and to actively participate in the employment and programme activities that are available. They are also designed to allow prisoners to earn extra privileges through responsible behaviour.

Irresponsible behaviour may result in the suspension of or the losing of privileges or a reduction in the level of privileges available.

The prison expects you:

- to obey all lawful instructions issued by staff
- to participate in and be on time for the employment and programme activities available to you
- not to use alcohol or any other drugs that have not been lawfully prescribed
- not to bully or threaten other prisoners
- to maintain a high standard of personal hygiene and keep your cell clean and tidy
- not to buy, sell or swap any items of property with other prisoners without permission
- not to possess items not lawfully issued to you
- not to steal or interfere with another prisoners' property
- not to enter another prisoner 's cell without the permission of that prisoner
- to express your views, requests or complaints in a reasonable manner
- not to be involved in applying a tattoo to yourself or other prisoners
- to obey any local prison rules that apply to you.
